Church of the Future." Harper & Brothers issue this week Mrs. Helen Hunt Jackson's book on the Indian question, "A Hundred Years of Dishonor," and Anthony Trollope's "Cicero" in two neat volumes.

Dr. Lewis R. Duon has written a book upon "The Angels of God" (Phillips & Hunt), in which he gives the opinions of learned theologians and the evidence of the Bible as to the origin, nature, form, power and number of the angels.

An anonymous author who savs "I write for immortality" has issued "The Adventures of an Atoms through Hurst & Co. The author has produced an opiate for which he merits the immortal remembrance of readers troubled with insomnia.

Dean Howson, of Chester, England, delivered four ectures last April in Philadelphia on the "Evidential Value of the Acts of the Apostles," in the "Jolin Bohlen Lectureship" course. They have been published in a neat volume by E. P. Dutton & Co.

M. Arsene Houssaye's history of the French theatre "La Comedie Francaise" has been received by J. W. Bouton. It is profusely illustrated with portraits of famous actors and actresses, and of the leading members of the present company. The portrait of Sarah Bernhardt is one of the best.

The first number of L'Art for the new year cains an article by J. Comyns Carr on "Wood-Engraving in America." It is based upon Scribner & Co.'s portfolio of last year. The author says that wood-engraving has reached a perfection in this country that it would be unjust not to recognize.

The demand for George Eliot's books has been so great since her death that the London publishers have not been able to meet it. One thousand readers inquired for "Adam Bede" in one week at a leading circulating library. A cheap and an ex. ensive complete edition of her works will be issued in the spring.

Mr. William Aldis Wright, of Trinity College, Cambridge, has edited "The Tragedy of King Richard III." (Oxford: Clarendon Press), and brought an immense amount of erudition to bear upon Shakespeare's lines. The tragedy occupies 114 pages of the book. The preface of sixty-four pages gives long extracts from old chronicles that are supposed to be the sources of the plot. The notes. grouped together at the end, make 122 closely printed pages, and abound in references and curious

The St. Petersburg correspondent of a German newspaper says that the Russian capital is eagerly looking for the publication of a political romance, the subject and characters of which are taken from the highest society of Russia. The author is said to be an eminent statesman who is high in office. The bero of the romance is a man, who, by the assistance of an influential and clever woman of the first aristocracy, is pushed into the front of life, and chieves great political distinction. This is another Russian attempt to checkmate Lord Beaconsfield.

The sportsman who takes his wife with him on his serious fishing excursions, and then bubbles with good spirits and bright descriptions over the recollections of his sport, must be a good man to imitate in almost every respect. In one case he is at least a good man to read. Mr. Charles W. Stevens has written a short and unassuming account of "Fly-fishing in Maine Lakes: r, Camp Life in the Wilderness." (Boston: Franklin Press.) It is fresh and full of "local color." Your genuine educated sportsman never goes to sleep with a pen in his hand, and usually has an eye for quaint expressions of country character.

Mr. John C. Langston, a young Georgian, two years out of coilege, has published a volume of poems (F. J. Hale & Son). In his preface he complains of an "unjust tendency to look with disfavor upon young people who attempt to write poetry." He is slightly in error here. The look of disfavor is cast upon the poetry that young people commonly write. If a look of any kind is cast upon the young poet himself, it is one of friendly pity. Mr. Langston may take courage. His verses give little promise of his ever becoming a very distinguished post. They contain the germ of poetry, however, and when he has done with the old stock themes and feelings of young poets, he may find something to say that the world will care to hear.

There are a few touches of real life and character in Miss Emma C. Curner's New-England story aptly entitled "Hubbab" (Anthors' Publishing Company). | BRADFORD MANSION SCHOOL, The title suggests the plot, most strangely, but hub bub is also made of the local scenes of the book, and moral ideas are also somewhat confused. The heroine rescues herself from poverty and a series of unhappy adventures by the purchase of a lottery ticket which draws $1,000. The title of the book was another lottery prize. A friend of the author dreamed of seeing the book completed with "Hubbub" "ornstely stamped" upon the cover. This so impressed Miss Currier that she placed that name and two others upon different slips of paper and drew lots for a title. "Hubbub" held the winning

Mr. Charles Dudley Warner still doubts the authorship of the "Observations" which Professor Smyth has published as writings of Jonathan Edwards. He says: "The 'Observations' are a crude, rough, dry lot of lumber, clumsily made up into a loose-jointed structure that has no faintest mark of Edwards's genius. Considering the mystery that hangs about the Edwardean manuscripts; the fact that no autograph of the 'Observations' is known; the fact (which Professor Park confirms) that for years Edwards and Samuel Hopkins lived like roommates in college, studied each other's manuscripts, borrowed and perused each other's 'Notes'; the fact that the intensely orthodox 'Observations' were never included in the writings of Edwards which Hopkins recommended for publication,-it would seem as if there was good ground for regarding the Observations' with suspicions of their genuineness. Did Professor Smyth ever try to ascertain in whose bandwriting the copy was from which they were finally printed?"

and poems. To single out a few, if Margaret J. Preston can sing as eloquently of the American boy as she has of "the Roman Boy's Trophies," she will touch Young America's heart in the right place. A froic in verse and in pictures is the "Sad Story of Jan Upernavik," a little Esquiman boy who came to New-York and took home a new suit of American clothes, which got him into trouble with his mother. Mrs. Clars Doty Bates has some clever verses on "Nobody's Cat." Among the prose articles is Mr. Arthur Gilman's "Battle of the Types." It has a funny illustration representing a star of some of the overworked letters of the alphabet. Mr. Gilman evidently believes that the best way to of the children, and he has hit upon an ingenious way of influencing them. Children take to "fonetic" spelling naturally. "Polly Cologne," by Mrs. Diaz, is continued, and is a bright and charming story. The first thirty-two pages of George Macdonald's "homely romance," "Warlock o' Glenwarlock," is given in a supplement that typographically comes timely end. It is a story of Scotch life, quaintly told.

THE ISLES OF SUMMER, or

THE ISLES OF SUMMER, or NASSAU AND THE BAHAMAS. By Charles Ives, M. A., late President of the New-Haven County Bar and ex-Speaker of the Connecticut House of Representatives. This new work, just published, meets an unsupplied want. It is an exhaustive treatise on Nassau, giving to the traveller just the information that he needs, to the scientific reader a full description of the corals, birds, fishes and marine algae of these wonderful islands of perpetual sumore, while the general reader will be charmed by its faithful, instructive and citica amusing pen-pictures of scenes and people that he met. It wo recent visits to the City of Nassau. The work contains twenty-seven full-page lituartations, which, of themselves reake the book worth buying. The book is in the hands of the well-known bublishing abuse of CHARLES T. BILLINGHAM, 678 Broadway, New-York, THE. TRIBLINE THE TRIBUNE

MINES AND MINING.

TUESDAY, Jan. 25--P. M. This was another active day at the Mining Stock Exchanges, and a large business was done. But prices were irregular, and while for the purely speculative stocks there were some important reactions, there was a genuine investment demand for those stocks the character of which is established, and for me of them further large advances were made. The Moose Silver mining stock to-day was called at the Board for the first time, and sold in a small way at from 2.20 to 2.30. The old Moose stock, which is convertible into Moose Silver stock, on resolution of the Board of Trustees, when certain financial arrangements are perfected, and for which purpose 200,000 shares of the new stock are in the hands of trustees, rose from 1.70 to 1.90@1.85. There was a large demand for Green Mountain, and its price advanced from 514 to 6. Rising Sun held its advance of yesterday at 2.60@2.05, Gold Stripe further rose to 2.70, and Cherokee remained strong at 1.90. The Leadville shares generally were lower; Chrysolite down to 61g from 612. Climax lower; Chrysolite down to 6¹g from 6¹g. Climax and Amie each 2 cents lower at 48 cents, and Little Pittsburg ²g lower at 2³g; but Little Chief was firm and 5 cents higher at 1.10. Hukill was dull at 1.50, Hibernia was steady at 1.40, and Willshire 10 cents higher at 1.25. North Standard made a bad break from 1.15 to 70²g83 cents. Iron Silver was 30 cents higher at 3.35, Silver Cliff steady at 4.30²g4.35, and Bull Domingo was 10 cents lower at 3.90. The Comstock shares were weak, Consolidated Virginia selling 15 cents lower at 2.05, and California 10 cents lower at 1.30. Boston Consolidated ruled steady at 1.20. The low price shares generally were 1 or 2 cents lower. The markets closed active but irregular.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 25.—A prominent mining man, just returned from Tombstone, says that the leading mines in that district are developing finely, and are attracting capitalists from all the States; but that business is overdone, and that there are more laborers in Tombstone than can possibly find employment for months.

The market here is very flat, and there is no prospect of an early movement in the Comstocks.

Bodie, Cal., Jan. 25.—During the past week. Standard Consolidated shipped to the mill 1,263 tons of ore; average pulp assay, $35.45. Crude bullion received, 4,790 onness. Shipped to company, $25,153.

A sit-foot ledge of fine ore has been cut in the 512 level of Noonday.

Philadelphia, Penn., Jan. 25.—Superintendent Gird, of the Tombstone Mill and Mining Company, telegraphed yesterday: "New and important strike in the northeast corner of the Goodenough claim. January shipment will be $120,000."

Twenty tons of one were shipped from the Chrysolite mine on January 24.

President Clark, of the Starr-Grove Mining Company, writes as follows from the mine, under date of January 18: "The narrow-gauge railroad will be completed to our mill in thirty days from date, and to the mine a few weeks later. By the completion of this road we save in expenses say $1,500 a month. The mine manager has revised his schedule of wages so as to save $600 a month additional. We intend to show an economical administration. I went through the mine to-day. A new strike of very rich ore has just been made, and all hands are happy. The most moderate man will now admit a million and a half in sight, with the finest prospect for more. Every stockholder of the Starr-Grove would rest content if he could see the ore. There is no possibility of a failure."

Bodle Consolidated shipped $10.271 on January 24.

At the stockholders' meeting of the Silver Nugget

Bodie Consolidated shipped $10.271 on January 24.

At the stockholders' meeting of the Silver Nugget company, held yesterday, the committee appointed January 8 to examine into the affairs of the company shmitted its report, showing that the business of the Company has hitherto been honestly conducted. The committee recommended that the company be reorganized with a capital of 250,000 shares, allowing the exchange of the old for the new stock as indicated in Monday's Tribune, viz.: That stockholders in the present company upon surrendering their stock should receive new stock for 65 per cent of their original holdings, upon the payment of 15 cents cash per share to the new company; that the 70,000 shares gained by the surrender of the old stock, together with the $30,000 cash for the new shares, should be applied to the payment of the company's indebtedness and the prosecution of developments upon the property, and that the increase of 50,000 shares should remain in the treasury of the company as working capital. This recommendation was adopted by the meeting, and the officers of the company state that sufficient stock has already been subscribed to insure the reorganization of the company on the basis above set forth. A CTIVE and intelligent men and women of a good character to cauvass for a very valuable book which will be sold only on subscription. Address E., Tribune Uptown Office, 1,238 Broadway.

REMOVAL.—The Office of WILLIAM ASTOR TO THE SLEEPLESS AND SICK.

The HOME JOURNAL of January 19 says: "A pillow just invented, filled with fragrant herbs, suggests Keats's marvellous line about." Lucent syrups 'tinet with cinnamon.' Just think of a pinow that will give you refreshing slomber, shay nervousness, and strengthen the perves, which, in short, is at once tonic and souncient. Such is LESTER'S RYPNOTIC PILLOW. There is evidence to show that this new discovery has great therapeutic vaine; that it cures neuralgia alleviates coids in the head, and is useful in all diseases of the air passages. Indeed, it is a delightful luxury to sleep on one of these dalutily aromatic and feath giving head-rests."

Jennie June indorses this pillow as giving her "quiet and couldingous along."

The stock speculation to-day was irregular and fitful. Early prices were rather stoody, but soon they were depressed 1@3 per cent, and subsequentity the fluctuations were frequent and wide. Generally the lowest figures of the day were raling between 1 and 2 o'clock. After that hour there was a steady improvement, which in the last fifteen minutes of husiness graw almost to the uppersions of utes of business grew almost to the proportions of a "boom." Yet there are only a few stocks the final figures of which show any gams on the late depressed prices of yesterday.
